The 1941 Harper Shield

A record of student activities made by and for the students, and published once a year.

THE SHIELD IS ALWAYS THE

EVERY YEAR comes the problem of introducing the Shield, of telling its point of view, its theme. This year we found ourselves in difficulties. There seemed nothing new to say. All the clever things, the witty comments, the penetrating remarks had been made. Previous Shields had described the handsome boys, beautiful girls, and inspiring teachers to full extent. As we looked through annuals of other years we felt unable to say anything previously unsaid about Harper and the Shield.

It was as we examined the pictures that an idea came to us. The more we considered the better we liked this idea. Harper is always the same and yet always different. From one year to the next our students have the same kind of teachers, belong to the same organizations and study the same subjects. This lends continuity and permanence. However, our student body is always changing. Every year old friends say farewell; we welcome new friends. This makes Harper an institution where the clubs, organizations, and classes, change slowly in response to the demands of the succeeding years. Thus Harper is a school that preserves the best of the past and welcomes the finest of the future.

. . . the finest of the future . . .

STAFF

Heroes and heroines in the field of athletics, presented by sports editors, Joe Kafka and Betty Reidy.

Tacking up posters and publicizing the Shield and its activities was publicity editor, George Duschene.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

A quick glance at this page will give you a preview of the 1941 Harper Shield. Beginning at the front we come upon the graduates, who are, in our estimation, the main attraction of the book, photographed on page 13.

Next we flip over to the club section where are pictured the educational and recreational clubs created for the development and relaxation of Harperites on page 47.

Then we go to the girls' sports section featuring the most popular activities of the G. A. A. snapped in action on page 95.

Over in the division room section is pictured the entire enrollment of Harper on page 111.

Finally the best part of the book, or the "dessert," we have saved for the last. In the Variety section is assembled a little bit of everything, witticisms, personalities, candid shots of Harper and Harperites on page 117.

HARRY F. YATES, Principal

WHILE the world today is thrown into a turmoil consequent upon war; while men and nations are changing to fit the needs pertinent to these conditions, the Harper High School continues upon its peaceful course of developing sound minds, strong bodies, and those standards of morality which make for a citizenship having the highest type of patriotism.

Harper High School ever remains the same, yet is ever changing. It preserves its fine old customs and traditions; on the other hand, it constantly changes by progressing with the most modern and effective methods of education. Our school of which we are justly proud holds aloft the Torch of Learning fed by basic principles of sound morality and patriotism.

Harry F. Yates

BLANCHE V. HEDEEN, Assistant Principal

MY APPRECIATION cannot adequately be expressed for the unswerving loyalty and encouraging support of all Harperites during the past year. The splendid spirit of friendly cooperation of faculty and student body makes Harper the ideal school.

To the Graduates of 1941, I wish success and happiness in whatever line of endeavor you have chosen to follow. Continue to carry on the same high standards of citizenship which have been so prominently displayed during your high school days.

Of the great student body of Harper, we ask merely this: keep on with the work before you. On your shoulders rests the burden of the future greatness of our school. Yours is the task of carrying forward the standard of Harper. Bear it on high proudly.

Blanche V. Hedeen

FAREWELL IN JUNE

On graduation night, the June class of 1941 will appear to be a great mass of shining faces. Those who will watch these students leaving an old life to embark on a new will not realize the many conflicting emotions in their minds.

For instance, that young man to the left will inwardly rejoice for he will have reached his goal—his diploma.

The young lady in the center will feel a touch of regret. She never dreamed that she would be so sorry leaving her school and her friends. The parties, dances and assemblies will be flashing through her mind; she will know that she will never take an active part in them again but will be forced to enjoy them only in memory through the years.

The pensive lad in the rear will be silently calculating statistics about his class. He will conclude that his is the largest class ever to graduate from Harper.

On the whole, these graduates will be dominated by one big question. This question will concern their future, whether it be in a college or university or in an office or factory. What kind of world will they have to face, a world where strange and tremendous changes will be taking place? They will not be unduly distressed, however, because they will know they have been well prepared by Harper's teachers and personnel.

Thus, the regret at leaving will be balanced by the eager anticipation of making a place for themselves in the world. We wish to give them our heartiest congratulations for a happy and prosperous future.

C L U B S

WE, AT HARPER, believe that clubs bring out student personality and feel that they are a necessary supplement to classroom routine. Bringing these personalities to light draws the members to closer understanding and tolerance.

Club periods are especially useful in promoting individual accomplishment and developing personality. Every year these clubs change considerably while they really remain the same. The seeming paradox is caused by the ever different students who officiate and participate in the club activities. Thus there is always something new and different going on to hold interest, though the clubs are basically unchanged.

This unceasing process of gradual renewal allows many to gain experience that will be helpful in preparing them for the outer world. The young men and women who offer their services to any of our clubs or activities today are the same men and women who will prove to be the better citizens of their community and their country tomorrow.

EVERY LOYAL HARPERITE IS A HARPER LOYALITE

LOYALITES

YOUTH, buoyancy, Loyalites! These words present to you an impression full of zip and pep and give you a picture of a true Harper Loyalite. Not only the students but also the faculty joined this all school organization that numbered 2118 in the 1941 semester. This new organization brought a new attitude to the building, one of friendliness and cooperation. The school paper profited too, and had the greatest circulation in its history. Why? Because all Loyalites were given every copy of the Highway. Assemblies that carried zest and enthusiasm helped relieve the tension of ordinary school life. The above words added up to make our Loyalite Club the super-super organization at Harper. Mr. Schilke, one hundred per cent Loyalite, was faculty sponsor.

CITY OFFICERS

At the end of the school year of 1940, the students of Harper elected four officials to express the student point of view in the activities and organization of our school. These officers, the top notchers of the school, brought to their job an eagerness and intelligence that made student government at Harper noteworthy.

They directed the student court and aided Mr. Yates and the faculty in all activities. In the spring of the year they went on a tour of Springfield and had a look at politics. Mayor Dick Barich, Comptroller Bob Schick, Chief Justice Harry Edwards and City Clerk Phyllis Morris completed the tour this year.

STUDENT COURT

"Hear ye, hear ye, hear ye, Harper's student court will come to order." With these words we introduce to you Harper's student court organization. It is here that offenders are tried by s t u d e n t judges and are either condemned or acquitted. The students take their punishment, usually encores, most willingly from one of their own group and leave the court room chastised. The penalties are light and it is very seldom a student visits the court twice.

ALDERMEN

At Harper we settle our controversies in a democratic manner at the weekly meeting of the Harper Student Council. Each division room expects its alderman to carry its problems to the sessions for solution. At the sound of the gavel wielded by Dick Barich, our mayor, the meeting comes to order. Following discussions and orations the questions are voted upon. This affords everyone an opportunity to present his views and to familiarize the group with the issue. The student body, with a feeling of satisfaction, accepts these decisions with finality.

In between classes, any time, the booth and booth officials are ready and willing to serve you. John Eck is booth commissioner and Mr. Briel is the sponsor.

CLEAN UP COMMITTEE

Slogans, posters, campaigning, publicity, assemblies, and cartoons. These are common terms in the vocabulary of a member of the clean-up campaign. There is no need to describe in detail their initiative and efforts, for these qualities are quite apparent in their enthusiasm. We are proud of our "purifying crusaders", for the progress they have made, and the recognition they have won.

Mr. Harris directs their activities.

LIBRARY STAFF

In case you don't quite understand the Dewey system and always find fiction when you're seeking a biography, don't despair or hesitate to call on a student librarian to lend a helping hand. Although approximately 1,250 books have been added to the circulation list of the library during the course of the year, the librarians have any and all books at their fingertips. The services rendered by this cheerful group, not only lighten the work of the students, but serve the library and consequently the school.

Mrs. Leach and Miss O'Neill have aided this volunteer group to closer organization and have likewise sponsored all its activities.

OFFICE SECRETARIES

We owe many thanks to the office secretaries for the smoothness with which each new semester starts. Each term they assist with classes and program registration and perform innumerable other jobs for the school.

These girls gain valuable experience and confidence in themselves.

205 SECRETARIES

Because 205 is such a busy and important room, accurate records are always necessary. Only a few are selected to assist from the many who offer their services. As 205 serves the school, these girls do also, and much is thus accomplished through their initiative and civic-mindedness.

HALL GUARDS

May I see your pass? A common question that has to be answered. Harper's hall guards see that students in the hall between classes are fully equipped with a pass filled out in ink and properly signed. Under the direction of Mr. Seitz they keep order and quiet in Harper's halls.

FIRE MARSHALS

Whenever the fire bell rings certain students go into action and help to enforce our watch word, S. O. S., —Silence, Order and Speed. They make a systematic check-up to see that all halls and rooms are clear and that everyone has left the building. Mr. Seitz is sponsor.

Benny Goodman, Gene Krupa, or Wayne King has nothing on Harper's dance orchestra. This nine-piece band can play anything from the hottest kind of jive to slow, dreamy waltzes.

They play for the night dances as well as for the afternoon sessions and also at the assemblies. Mr. Connors, the faculty sponsor, makes all the necessary arrangements.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

"Boys and girls behind the scenes" could be the title given to Harper's social committee. Be it night dance or after school get together there are always committee members standing by to see that all goes well. Ruth Lenz, social commissioner was aided by twenty-five Harperites.

BIOLOGY CLUB

Can I believe my eyes? Yes, that's really a boy crawling there along the sidewalk. He must be a member of the biology club. They interest themselves in insects, flowers, and nature as a whole. Theirs is a constructive hobby, not only for themselves, but for their community as well.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

Chemistry outside of the regular classroom routine, is a most engaging subject. Members have come to realize both the fun and the value of chemistry.

Now and then Mr. Harris must suppress an all too daring student who has set up his own experiment and is about to let the world know of his findings by blowing out a portion of the wall. But all in all, these students are treating themselves to a very joyful and fact-finding period of study.

The percentages are as follows: 5 per cent of the 3A's, 10 per cent of the 4B's, and 15 per cent of the 4A's. Flush left—13 picas—all caps—18 point head counts. This is the typical language of those whose efforts go into publishing Harper's monthly newspaper, the Highway.

Containing front page news, feature stories, news of coming events, a sports page, and many other items, the Highway strives and succeeds in becoming an excellent facsimile of daily newspapers.

Deadlines are a menace to the staff, just as they are to large papers, but the editors, having set up their layouts, continue to push their workers. After much writing, typing and proof-reading the paper is sent to the presses. Upon the day of distribution signs of relief are seen by those visiting the staff room. But these are only momentary, for plans of getting news for the next edition are already under way.

A feature of the Loyalite program as adopted by Harper is the distribution of a copy of a Highway to each Loyalite. Thus the paper has the distinction of a 96% sale.

Not only informational matter but educational material is to be found in this paper. Vocational guidance has been given a regular space in its pages. From this prospective graduates became acquainted with the problems confronting them. Other students can begin to prepare for occupations which they think will appeal to them.

Also included on the calendar of the Highway for the past semester has been the task of newsreel editing by two editors of the staff. Selecting the topics they think to be of greatest appeal from over 16,000 feet of film, these students have enjoyed the privilege of having their selections as a 40 minute revue of news events in a downtown theater.

The Highway showed its interest in the journalistic field by sending the largest delegation, 17 in number, to the National Scholastic Press Association Convention. This gathering, held in Cleveland November 28, 29 and 30, is one of the more important events in the young journalist's life. Here he finds the nation's best high school newspapers, annuals, and magazines; here he may receive valuable information from the aforementioned and use it to advantage in printing his school paper.

In presenting the student opinion, highlights, and activities during the past year, the Highway has done a noteworthy task. This is due to the fine staff which was organized by Miss Muldoon, sponsor, whose leader during the fall semester was Claire Dehn; spring semester, Harry Taft.

SHIELD

It is with a sigh of relief that the staff of 1941 closes the covers of account books, pounds out a last letter on the typewriter, and gives a hurried last minute look at the layouts. The Shield is about to be printed. The final deadline climaxes a hectic year of planning, picture taking, accounting, soliciting, and even of dramatics. All that remains is the hope that the student body will look upon the Shield of 1941 as a success.

This year's Shield carries no specific theme, but seeks to present a pictorial and written review of the past year's activities, and the picturing of each of Harper's students. In meeting this end, innumerable tasks confronted the staff. Through combining the efforts of typists, artists, copy-writers, salesmen, photographers, and advertising solicitors, the Shield finally emerges from a mass of copy, pictures, and files to take its place as a volume of Harper's history.

Correcting our errors and giving invaluable aid throughout the past year were Miss Doyle, finance; Mrs. Madsen, art; Mr. Kimpton, promotion; and Mr. Silverman, editorial.

CONCERT BAND

At football games, assemblies, in fact wherever there is a display of school spirit, we find Harper's band. Vibrant with rhythm in the bright red and white uniforms they not only keep Harper in step and full of pep, but they spread Harper's fame by winning contests.

CONCERT ORCHESTRA

In sharp contrast to the brasses and drums of the band are the melodious strains of the violins and cellos of the orchestra. At plays, assemblies, and at commencement, this organization shows its dexterity by providing mellow music. Mr. Rifkind directs both the orchestra and the band.

Marching men!!! Two hundred of them—Harper's contribution to the R.O.T.C.

This organization, based upon regular military standards, impresses efficiency, promptness, courtesy and reliability upon the cadets. The ability to give and take orders, so essential in the world today, is also fostered in the program of training the youth as presented by the R.O.T.C.

Instructions in military science and tactics are given by the officers in charge to their respective companies. These officers, who have advanced through the ranks as they progressed in school, learn special skills in the Officer's Club from Sgt. Rea, instructor of the unit. New drills and formations are the chief points in which the officers are schooled.

Order and the efficient handling of audiences and crowds are to be counted upon when the Usher's Club is in charge of an activity. These boys function at, assemblies evening entertainments, and school dances, and are easily recognizable by the red and white armbands which adorn their uniforms.

The spirit and discipline of this entire organization plays an important part in the smooth organization of our school.

CHEER LEADERS

Hands waving high and both feet off the ground, our cheerleaders stir the crowds to frenzied enthusiasm! They deserve credit for the splendid work they have done during the football and basketball season.

GIRLS' CHORUS

Music, as provided by our Girls Chorus, soothes our student body. There is no doubt that Harper's Girls Chorus is really talented and can prove it when called upon. This organization provides music at assemblies, P.-T.A. shows, and ever so many places. Under the able direction of Miss Tewksbury this group of girls is an asset to Harper.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

A rise of melody greets the movement of Mr. Schilke's baton. The most notable feature of this choral group is the joy it receives through its singing. However, this pleasure cannot surpass the happiness the music brings into the hearts of all the audience. Their fine music is heard and appreciated at school activities.

L E G I O N  O F

The only organization at Harper whose sole purpose it is to recognize scholarship is the Legion of Honor. When the semester commences, students are awarded pins that signify their membership, if they have earned a grade of E or S in major subjects and a passing grade in minor subjects for a final mark.

Since it has been Harper's tradition to place emphasis on scholarship and learning the society's membership roll has more than tripled in the last seven years from 110 to 367. This increase shows the maturity of our high school.

The success of the society is due for the most part to Mrs. Barnaby, its faithful supporter.

SPANISH CLUB

The arousing appeal of Spanish makes it very popular among the students at Harper. Many times in class movies are shown of Spain, South America and Mexico so that the pupils will see and understand the customs of the people and the language they are studying.

Another reason for its popularity may be due to the fact that many students may have the opportunity to travel here and there where the language is spoken or may find jobs in South America.

Amo, amas, amat! The ancient Romans would be pleased to hear the Latin students at one of the club meetings. Spelling bees, games, puzzles, and almost any activity that can be tinted with Latin are used as forms of entertainment at the meetings. The students delve into the history of the Romans and enjoy every minute of it.

The value of a classical education becomes apparent to Latin students. They find out that knowing Latin helps them not only in many other courses but in general thinking and ability to use the English language. Mrs. Barnaby is sponsor.

Last down, two to go! The team shifts into a punt formation and the ball is snapped back to the full-back. His foot rises to meet the ball but his hand lashes out and the ball sails through the air into the waiting arms of the end.

Surprise play? I'll say so. It was only one of the many devised by Coach Boyle. Truly we owe a debt of gratitude to him. Let us be realistic and admit that despite the losses Coach Boyle continued his hard effort in search of a successful season.

We cannot forget the twenty-four enthusiastic participants who tried their hardest to bring Harper's eleven into the limelight. In view of their achievements, we can claim that their efforts won the respect of all the teams in the city.

With mixed feelings we have watched the departure of Coach Boyle. In his place is Coach Louis Wasserman who claims that Harper's eleven will give reason for great worry to the strongest teams in our section.

BASKETBALL

Another season of basketball has been checked off the Sports Schedule. Many of the students have already forgotten the outcomes of the games but not so the players, for the thrills of competition will never be erased from their minds.

It was not important whether we were the South Side champs, for the main purpose of Basketball or any other sport is to promote sportsmanship. This is particularily true of Harper for our team possessed all the essential qualities to promote fair play.

Since a good number of the players will be back next season the outlook is very favorable. As a matter of fact it can be safely predicted that Harper will be one of the strongest contestents.

BASEBALL

With the first shining days of April Harper's nine began the strenuous task of baseball practice. Urged by the splendid coaching of Mr. John Farmer, the team settled down to study the fine points of baseball. The infield tightened up, the hitting power increased and the pitching staff improved, all resulting in the establishment of a powerful Cardinal nine.

Despite the stiff competition of Calumet, Bowen and Morgan Park, the team succeeded in obtaining a position of high distinction. In addition to this, we have received the honor of having one of our infielders, Stanley Tribe, sent to the minors, where we hope he will become outstanding. With a proud and happy heart Harper calls the attention of all schools to the fact that the baseball team is always one of the best in the South Section. We hope that through the years the baseball team will retain the high recognition it has maintained.

TENNIS

This year saw the establishment of Harper's first tennis team. Under the watchful eyes of Coach Malo the team began an elimination process in search of the best players. The final outcome found Joe Grinis, Paul Jerlstrom, John Ely, Leonard Lopate, Charles Ephraim, Edward Vassian and Harold Patinkin the regular members of the team. With this elimination terminated the team began competition with teams in its section consiting of Lindblom, South Shore, Gage Park, Englewood and Manley.

Due to graduation the tennis team will suffer the loss of three good players, Jerlstrom, Grinis and Ely, but with the remaining four returning there should be a prosperous season next year.

BOWLING

Strike! No, no, it's not the baseball team; it's only one of the highly enthusiastic bowlers from Harper's team letting his team-mates know he's doing well. As a matter of fact, the whole team did well much to the satisfaction of Coach Nebel.

Due to the persistent efforts of Taft, Letz, Smith, Ephraim and Apato, the Elks attained first position in the inter-team competition with the Challengers running a close second. After tucking the first place position under their belts, the Elks entered the city league of which Charles Ephraim is president and ended in the middle of the city standings.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The girls who head our athletic department make up the G.A.A. Board and Cabinet. Their uniforms consists of a blue jacket over a white dress which they wear once a week. At these meetings the girls plan the activity schedule for the semester, in addition to appointing leaders for the various activities. Some of the popular entertainments that the G.A.A. sponsored this semester were a Junior-Senior Play Day, the annual G.A.A. Dance, to which all G.A.A. members could bring their favorite beau, a G.A.A. movie and a tennis match between two famous champions. Another highlight in the field of sport was a contest game between the Girls Honor Volleyball Team and the Men Faculty Flashes.

The officers of the G.A.A. were Edith Bennett, president; Ruth Ellinger, vice president; Mildred Barren, secretary, and Betty Reidy, treasurer. Miss Schmook was the faculty sponsor.

ARCHERY

Whizzzzzz and the arrow splits the air on its journey into the heart of the target. A bulls-eye is the feat that all the girls aim for.

The Archery Club is just a newly organized club at Harper, with Miss Schmook as the teacher, but the girls have been so willing to learn, that soon it will be one of the leading sports.

FENCING

The clashing of steel and the familiar cry "En Garde," are heard every week when the Fencing Class meets to test the skill of our G.A.A. fencers.

The girls are equipped with masks, swords and protectors and many a thrilling contest is held between the contestants.

G. A. A. SWIMMING

As we look in on the G.A.A. Swimming Classes we see a good deal of splashing, but after we gaze around, we see some girls diving with the ease of a swan and others swimming like mermaids.

There are several classes that meet each week and all girls, whether they are experts or not, are invited to join this healthy, happy sport. Norma Brandel is the cabinet member in charge of the swims.

SKATING AND HIKING

For health! For fun! Roller skating, ice skating, and hiking provide both. The girls meet for ice skating in the near-by parks. The hikers and roller skaters have no set destination for their trips but they have many good times. Points are given toward the G.A.A. letter and bars are awarded according to attendance.

BICYCLING CLUB

Why not go riding with the G.A.A. rather than by yourself? You're sure to have a good time! It may be to Ryan's Woods or it may be to the Airport, but each trip is to a different place. If you don't like to hike, just get out your bike and come along and earn some points or a bar.

BOWLING LEAGUE

Over at Western Recreation Hall, a group of girls bowl once a week. They are the members of the Bowling League. These girls have formed teams and have played in tournaments against competing teams. At the end of the semester a city-wide banquet is held for both the Girls' and Boys' Bowling League.

Each semester many girls enjoy a period of every week playing ping pong in the balcony of the girls' gymnasium. Cheers often ring through the corridors as certain players emerge victorious. The board member, Doris Gillespie, conducts a tournament each semester and the winners are awarded with bars.

SEPTEMBER

3 School is here again. Everyone looks bewildered, including Leslie Plummer, who as a typical Freshie, is looking for a cart or other vehicle to deliver her to her classes.

12 All enjoyed seeing the football team on parade during the first pep assembly of the season. Ohs and ahs came from the girls as they cast admiring glances at Francis Block's wide shoulders.

13 Today we found an amazed Freshie, who just discovered that she was registered in all the boys' gym classes.

14 Harper bows to St. Rita, 27-6 in practice tilt.

16 Now that all text books have been distributed, Harperites think of hiring caddies.

17 James Busse typed constantly for a period before he realized that the typewriter contained no ribbon and then thought that the words had gone with the wind.

24 Harper looks bright and gay these days. Tom Marks, as well as many other Harper boys, is sporting those colorful new socks.

27 Did you know we have Russian dancers in our midst? Dave Pattis and several other artists gave us a demonstration (on the floor).

OCTOBER

1 That noise heard in the seventh period study was just the excited yell of Amorette, the astonished junior who found her plump friend sitting on her spectacles.

9 Those zoological sounds issuing forth from the rear of 406 were none other than the sounds of a male quartet harmonizing in preparation for the Publications Party.

16 Conscription Day. No school.

18 The anxious faces of yesterday have changed to joy or disappointment.

18 Harper-Fenger clash—that is all.

24 Among the chivalrous gentlemen of Harper, we find an outstanding member, who offered to cut Betty Berg's steak at the N. H. S. luncheon. His kind offer was rejected.

NOVEMBER

4 Sally Marks wins passes to Harper-Bowen game on Harper-Calumet score guess. Bet she practices on bean jars.

6 Did Lois Fries take on a look of surprise when the dancing teacher asked her to aid in demonstrating a new step?

11 Did you notice all the Harper sweaters present at the Armistice Day parade? We really gave our deserving support to our R. O. T. C.

15 A certain senior wishes he had taken heed of the advice of taking along pillows to 4-A skating party.

L O G

20 Why do so many students wince when the word "ham" is spoken. Could it be the after effects of the visit to Swift's slaughterhouse?

28 Joe and turkey again or is it duck? Variety is the spice of life.

10 Marking day. All the excitement on the fourth floor after eleventh period did not have relation to grades. The Freshies were excitedly chasing after a small bat that had trespassed on our premises.

DECEMBER

2 The tradition of a Shield Casanova has been shattered. Betty Ruth is in the limelight now.

3 Why is it that June Hill is commonly referred to as cupid these days?

4 When lights were switched on after the Christmas movie "Starlit Night," many Harperites were surprised to see tear stained faces emerging from the darkness.

5 Who says Warren Brown is worth 6 girls? That means trouble in my way of speaking.

6 Lipstick on Bob Frank? It couldn't have been the "Mistletoe Dance"?

6 Walter Bergman's excuse for not having homework is different anyway. He is so busy with the 4-B, 4-A party.

9 Kitty Flood just realized that short hand homework isn't to be done in history class. (Teacher doesn't think so, anyway).

10 That racket you heard in the hall that resembled Hamlet's famous speech was Leona Rieckhoff practicing up on her recitation.

13 At last we find out why Helen Schwartz and Mary Niko have been so jolly all week. Probably the after effect of the Notre Dame football dance.

16 Bob Frank modeling the very latest in sugarsacks in the corridor this morning. (A preview of the 4-B, 4-A party).

JANUARY

6 School work resumed. How can we forget so much?

7 Today, Jean Snyder made a slight error. She misunderstood the teacher as asking for a typewriter instead of a typing book. She laughingly displays her bruises inflicted while carrying the machine all over school.

9 Several steno students have tummy-aches this morning from sampling too many of those delicious Louisiana pecans.

20 Helen Schwartz nursing a bandaged hand, claims her knuckles were injured while dancing. We'd like to believe you, Helen. Really.

L O G

28 Why is it that Paul Jerlstrom blushes every time anybody mentions the Home Talent Show?

29 Harper just doesn't seem the same since we lost so many of our swell seniors.

FEBRUARY

3 Freshies bring new life to Harper. An anonymous Freshie was seen directing a puzzled Sophomore to his classroom. It sort of shocked us too.

5 Really, we found a Soph who thinks you have to take your lock home every night. Poor kid.

7 Have you noticed that new sign in Frances Smetana's locker? She wants "Experts" no less.

9 A despairing Freshie sympathizing with friends, while staggering beneath armloads of books says, "Grammar School just wasn't like this!"

13 Phebe Disbrow is wearing that strange smile because she just realized that she is no longer a Freshie.

14 Valentine's Day. Some dear friend remembered Betty Berg. She doesn't know who sent it either.

18 Jane Haas, alias "Pick-a-Lock Pete," was caught trying to get her lunch out of a locker on the second floor instead of the third.

MARCH

7 Deanne Ganakos is envied by many because of her opportunities of interviewing stars of radio and screen.

12 Marches, harmony, and all types of music were heard today booming forth from our auditorium where brass players from all over the city were guests of Harper in an all-city competition contest.

17 It is a wonder how our peppy jitterbugs ever controlled themselves long enough to enjoy the slow waltz version of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" at the St. Patrick's Dance. By the way, the main topic of discussion was the excellence of the Magician Show.

20 Harper turns out for our first Ice Carnival. We can't quite decide whether the students or the faculty were most enthusiastic.

21 Ruth Finn arrived late at the Sailor's Hornpipe Dance. Her reluctance in entering may have been due to the threat of the gang-plank tread.

24 Have you noticed the beautiful posters adorning our halls these days? They certainly are persuasive boosters for Americanism.

25 Frank Muscarella and his escort cut quite a figure in the hall. Nothing like a good old waltz.

L O G

APRIL

1 Most Harper students were fooled today because they expected to be the object of some mischievous prank and were not.

2 After the N. H. S. luncheon today, Marie J. Morris received a few rhumba lessons from Donald Billman. (Nice going kids.)

11 Good Friday—No school.

14 The lack of enthusiasm shown today may be a let down from Easter Sunday.

18 Clean-up assembly. (Who ever could think of those unique "Consequences"?)

22 Much ado in the gym these days. The Faculty Flashes and the All-Stars finished up even-steven.

23 Jean Lunaberg is on the verge of a break-down. She has to come to school during clean-up vacation.

25 Harperites could hardly restrain themselves thinking about that whole week that lies ahead.

MAY

5 All the gals truckin' down to 211 were delivering bows assembled during Clean-Up Week.

6 Publication staffs tour Tribune plant. Diana Jurkovich claims she sees a tree every time she looks at a Tribune.

7 Mr. Yates commends the conduct of Harperites on busses and at broadcast yesterday.

7 If you happen to be in doubt of the reason for most of the upper classmen wearing such serious expressions, you might be interested to know that discussion of the prom has reached a serious stage.

9 Harper gals were strutting around in the latest fashions today. Mothers particularly enjoyed the show.

JUNE

6 8:59 p. m. Some girls still awaiting prom invitations.

14 Flag Day. Old Glory nationally displayed.

SENIOR PROPHECY—FEBRUARY GRADUATES

Prophecy is dangerous business. The amateur prophet in his effort to pierce the future consults personal records, examines each person minutely, his parentage, heritage and physique, diagnoses the future course of society, and endeavors to trace the exact relationship between his subject and the future. Had we used this technique our prophecy would have been ready by the summer of 1963.

We on the Shield are old hands at this prophecy business. We know the only infallible way of predicting the future. Put all the names in a hat. Bandage your eyes. Draw out a name and tack it on a profession. That's that.

You may not like it, but what can we do?

May Queen and Court

ROW 1: Johnson, Schmidt, Bleck, Vetter, Schreiber.
ROW 2: Reeves, Sievert, Matecun, Schleyer, Lowery.

As the weather grew warmer, and the winds became soft and scented Harper undertook its annual privilege of choosing a May Queen. Our Queen must be a person of intelligence and charm and must offer a nice combination of beauty and brains. The difficulty in selecting the May Queen resulted from the host of candidates at Harper who fulfilled these requirements.

The contest began in the division room where the competition was stiff and the election was exciting as each room chose its most eligible girl.

A faculty committee then served to eliminate and narrow the choice down to only ten remaining aspirants. These girls displayed their prettiest pictures in our Trophy Case which procedure enabled all the students to view them and form an opinion. Then the student body of Harper made its final choice of May Queen. This year Georgeanna Bleck, a 2A of Miss Parker's division was selected. Her court consisted of Virginia Schreiber, Jane Matecun, Delores Schleyer, Dorothy Lowery, Helen Johnson, Charlotte Schmidt, Betty Reeves, Gloria Vetter, and Harriet Seivert, the other finalists. The coronation took place in an impressive outdoor ceremony before the entire faculty and student body.

HOW THEY STUDY

We have shown you action at Harper, the busy classrooms, the pulsing athletic contests, the throbbing dramatic performances. Now we come to a scene, less active, where events of great importance also take place. The study halls, where each Harperite, alone with his conscience, comes to grips with the individual subjects that make up a high school. We present, then, a behind-the-scenes view of how they study at Harper.
